Creative Europe and Erasmus+ celebrate their first birthday!

Mgr. et Mgr. Vlastimil Sochor

The values of mutual respect, intercultural dialogue, learning, creativity and the exchange of ideas are at the heart of the European project. These values are central to Erasmus+ and Creative Europe that are this month, celebrating their first birthday.

By offering grants to study, train, work or volunteer abroad, Erasmus+ will support more than 4 million mainly young Europeans to gain international experience, exposure to other cultures and to broaden their horizons.

Creative Europe, the EU's support programme for cultural and creative sectors, provides funding for over 250 000 artists and cultural professionals and contributes to the sharing and appreciation of our cultural diversity.

Tibor Navracsics, EU Commissioner for Education, Culture, Youth and Sport said: "Erasmus+ and Creative Europe are at the heart of what the European project is about: By fostering mutual understanding and reinforcing our shared identity, they help to create a strong sense of belonging and to build communities. The two programmes have got off to a great start, and I will ensure that they continue to play a crucial role in promoting dialogue, exchange, cultural awareness, creativity and learning."
